Few cities offered Thomas Kinkadee the romantic inspiration that San Francisco brought to his canvas. A favorite for Thom even as a young boy, the City by the Bay was “the city for me” - with breathtaking vistas and stunning spectacles waiting to be captured by his artist’s brush.

Lombard Street, proclaimed “the crookedest street in the world,” was a frequent stop for Thom’s motorcycle and artist easel. Plunging down a steep and winding road through a profusion of flowers and romantic old homes, Lombard Street offers sweeping views of the City and Bay while gently reminding us of the twists and turns along the road of life. Looking back up Lombard Street, it’s easy to see that the way we came, though winding and uncertain, still brought us to the place we were meant to be.

From the Thomas Kinkadee Vault, The Thomas Kinkadee Company is proud to present San Francisco, Lombard Street II, with the hope that you will keep the faith, stay the course... and find your way.

Key Points

- San Francisco, Lombard Street II celebrates the journey down the “crookedest street in the world.”
- A total of 12 pieces are included in the San Francisco Collection.
- The original San Francisco, Lombard Street painting gave a view of the city looking down from the top of the street. Lombard Street II looks up at the twists and turns from the bottom of the street.
- Many of the same elements from the original Lombard Street painting can be seen in this piece, including 2 cats, the Christian flag, the red car and Thom riding down the street on his motorcycle.
- 8 Hearts are hidden for the 8 hairpin turns on Lombard Street.
- The Powell-Hyde cable car can be seen at the top of the hill.
